

JPS Treats Children of St. Wade's Basic School

The Jamaica Public Service Company Ltd. in keeping with its annual tradition of treating children during the Christmas season, held a treat for the children of St. Wade's Basic School in Old Harbour Bay.

Three happy children: Alia and Kalia Daniel (far left & far right) and Jovante Williams, receive gifts from Finance and Administrative Officer, Old Harbour Bay Power Station, Blondette Wright.

Each year, the light and power company holds a treat for the children in communities which are in close proximity to its operations – whether power plants or customer service offices.

The children, JPS team members, and members of the St. Wade's staff all had a jolly good time!

Ricardo O'Connor gets a helping hand from Administrative Clerk from the Old Harbour Bay Power Station, Antonette McKay-Nembhard. Anneka Henry looks on.

Some members of staff from JPS and St. Wade's Basic School, take time to pose with a few of the children at the Christmas treat.

This well decorated girlie looks curiously at the gift presented by Administrative Clerk from the Old Harbour Bay Power Station, Antonette McKay-Nembhard.

Okay, let's keep that eye contact going...

This young man seems to be thinking about Christmas, as he leaves with his gift from Finance and Administrative Officer, Old Harbour Bay Power Station, Blondette Wright.

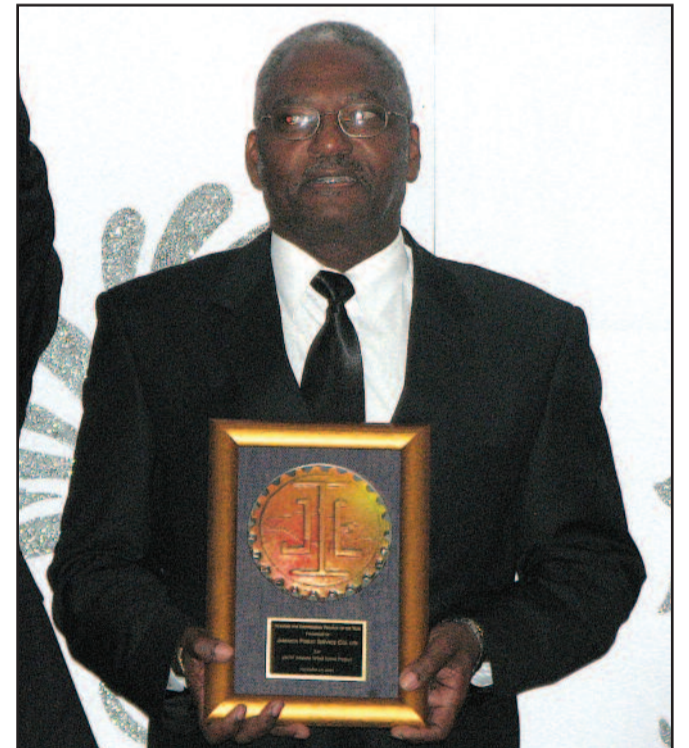

Munro Wind Farm Nominated for Project of the Year Award

The brand new Munro Wind Farm, commissioned by the Jamaica Public Service Co. Ltd., on October 13, was recently nominated for the Project of the Year Award, presented by the Jamaica Institution of Engineers.

While the wind power plant did not take the coveted prize, it was a great honour to have the development recognized by this professional body. The prize was taken by Tankweld for their development of the Rio Bueno port.

The Munro Wind Farm is a 3-MW power plant, which represents the first phase of the utility's move into electricity generation using wind.

Vice President of Generation Expansion, Valentine Fagan holds the plaque received in recognition of the Munro Wind Farm's nomination as Project of the Year 2010.

JPS wins Merit Award for Project Management Organization of the Year 2010

The Project Management Institute, Jamaica Doctor Bird Chapter, recently nominated the Jamaica Public Service Company Ltd. for Project Management Organization of the Year 2010.

The selection criteria for this award included: having a Project Manager on staff or Project Management Unit; completing one successful project during 2010; facilitating project management training for staff during the year; illustrating application of Project Management principles and practices; and verification of project documentation.

Other companies vying for the prestigious award, along with JPS included: Pan Caribbean Financial Services Ltd., Neustone Ltd., National Commercial Bank Ja. Ltd., and the Jamaica Social Investment Fund. Congratulations to the winners – NCB! And well done to the team at JPS and the other nominees, who each received Awards of Merit in recognition of their achievements.

JPS Manager, Expansion Projects, Alston Watson receives the Merit Award for Project Management Organization of the Year 2010, on behalf of the electric utility from Secretariat Manager, Project Management Institute, Julane Wright.

IN FOCUS

JPS
SERVICE
Guarantees

DID YOU KNOW?

Reconnection

After payment of overdue amounts

We will reconnect within 24 hours.

(Automatic compensation as of January 2010)

If JPS fails to meet this guaranteed service standard, you are entitled to compensation.

For more information:
1-888-CALL JPS (1-888-225-5577)
www.jpSCO.com