

JPS Spreads Christmas Cheer in Portland

In keeping with the spirit of Christmas, on Monday JPS staff members treated the children of the Paediatric and Outpatient wards of the Port Antonio Hospital.

Regional Manager of Customer Care, Sonia Jones, assists a delighted youngster to open his gift, at the JPS treat, held recently at the Paediatric and Outpatient Wards of the Port Antonio hospital in Portland.

It was a delightful time of gift giving and fellowship.

Members of the JPS Team who were on hand to spread cheer included Regional Customer Care Manager, Sonia Jones; Customer Care Officer, Lorraine Phillips; Secretary, Suzanne Campbell-Rose; Operations Officer, Simon Jackson; Loss Control Officer, Marlon Allen; and Community Relations Officer, Daffodil Bruce-Miller.

Secretary at JPS' Port Antonio Customer Service Office, Suzanne Campbell-Rose beats Santa to it, as she presents gifts to children at the treat held at the Port Antonio hospital.

O cool! It's a truck!

JPS Community Relations Officer, Daffodil Bruce-Miller shares joy with these youngsters.

Shucks this is just nice!

Thanks for the doll! She's as cute as me!

What's Christmas without Christmas Carols? Here's to a round of beautiful singing with three of the children at the Port Antonio Hospital in Portland. The children are backed by (l-r) JPS Customer Care Officer, Lorraine Phillips; Loss Control Officer, Marlon Allen; Secretary, Suzanne Campbell-Rose; Community Relations Officer, Daffodil Bruce-Miller; Operations Officer, Simon Jackson and Regional Customer Care Manager, Sonia Jones.

Muriton Pen Boys' Home gets their game on

The young residents of the Muriton Pen Boys' Home were the recipients of a new table tennis board, as part of JPS' outreach in Eastern Jamaica. Additionally, the Home which houses 27 boys, from 13 years up, received a television as a gift from a member of the JPS staff.

Santa's proxy elves (JPS Regional Customer Care Manager, Sonia Jones (centre) and JPS Community Relations Officer, Daffodil Bruce-Miller), get some help to assemble the new table tennis board, from one of the residents at the Muriton Pen Boys' Home in Manchioneal, Portland. The gift was presented by JPS as part of treats being carried out in Eastern Jamaica.

JPS Regional Customer Care Manager, Sonia Jones gets the game going with a resident of the Muriton Pen Boys' Home in Manchioneal, Portland, after helping to assemble the table tennis board.